Kelly Law Registry was among an elite group of nine primary law firms and three service providers recognized for their extraordinary contributions to advancing the objectives of the DuPont Legal Model. Through its use of creative cost-saving solutions, Kelly Law Registry saved DuPont more than $10 million in 2003. Kelly Law Registry is DuPont's exclusive supplier of temporary legal staffing. This marks the seventh year Kelly Law Registry has received the award.

DuPont designed the "Challenge Award" in 1996 to acknowledge the accomplishments of its outside law firms and service providers in supporting the DuPont Legal Model.

"Kelly Law Registry deserves recognition for its outstanding legal work in 2003, its involvement in and support of the DuPont Legal initiatives, and its adherence to the highest ideals of the DuPont Legal Model," said Tom Sager, DuPont's vice president and assistant general counsel.

"It is rewarding to be recognized by DuPont for our efforts in providing high quality, cost-effective legal services," said Terry Murphy, vice president of Kelly Law Registry. "The many dedicated temporary attorneys and paralegals we place with Dupont Legal contribute to our success."

The DuPont Legal Model is a comprehensive and integrated process that takes a business-focused and results-oriented approach to the delivery of legal services, and helps law firms and corporate law departments improve the quality, cost and efficiency of legal services.
